

Ive Got To Stop Talking To Myself: Text And Sound By Artists

Hi! I'm glad we're getting to talk this evening. How was your day?

What did you think of that concert we went to last night? It was a little too intense for my taste, but it looked like you were enjoying yourself. Which song did you like the best?

How have things been going between you and Emily? It sounded like you were arguing about something the other day, I just wanted to check in and see if things are going OK.

This chapter of algebra is pretty tough; I can't figure out most of the answers. Want to work on it together over the phone for a while? Maybe we can help each other solve problems 3 ...

Do you ever think about picking up the bass again? You used to be very good at it. I'm still thinking about learning the guitar; what would you think about playing some music together?

You were making some great jokes at school today; I love your sense of humor. Do you think you got it from your parents, or was it something you developed yourself?

I don't think I know much about the area you grew up in. What was it like? What kind of activities were you into as a kid?

I remember playing a lot of soccer during third and fourth grades. I wasn't very good, but I always made as much of an effort as possible. Did you play any sports growing up? Were you a pretty athletic child?

I'm sorry that I upset you the other day; I didn't mean to make you angry. I'm happy to explain myself or clarify what I meant. Do you want to talk about our argument?

If you could be good at any sport, what would it be? I think I'd choose baseball; it's a little slow-paced but fun to play, plus you only run in short sprints. How about you?

I've been thinking about the Picasso painting we saw at the art museum last week. It was beautiful; I'd like to see more of his work in person. What did you think of it? Do you have any favorite artists or painters?
